The Student Role Model (SRM) Program comprises of 40+ ISU undergraduate students in STEM (science, technology, engineering, and math) majors. SRMs may present one of a variety of pre-designed, hands-on activities or may have the opportunity to work individually with educators to tailor activities that directly align with their specific academic needs. SRMs also share their experiences about college life by participating in panel discussions, representing WiSE in front of perspective new students and their families, or participating in other outreach forums as needed.

The Student Coordinator is a student staff member working for the Program for Women in Science and Engineering (WiSE), reporting to the WiSE Outreach Specialist. SRM Student Coordinator tasks:

- Plan, execute and evaluate STEM Explorations (youth camp)
- Host weekly STEM Explorations meetings with co-coordinator
- Packing/Unpacking SRM kits
- Occasional scheduling of visits, student role models and reserving vehicles
- Track visit data, before and after
- Assisting SRM recruitment, interviewing, selection, and training
- Update SRM database with new and updated activities
- Communicating regularly with the WiSE Staff
- Other tasks as assigned by WiSE Staff

The tasks required typically take 3-8 hours a week, with regularly scheduled hours conducted in the WiSE Office weekdays between 8:00 AM – 5:00 PM. There is an option for some remote hours, pending a conversation with the WiSE Outreach Specialist.

High attention to detail, dependability, and the ability to interact professionally are essential.
