

Go Further

Frequently Asked Questions

What happens at the conference?

- At the conference, you will hear 1-2 keynote speakers, attend 2-4 break-out sessions, and have lunch with your group.
- We also have a few optional activities that include Trivia during lunch, an undergraduate student panel, and a walking campus tour following the conference.

Is it a 'girls only' conference?

- As the Program for Women in Science and Engineering our programs are designed for girls but open to all. That means that our Go Further conference will showcase keynote speakers, session presenters, and volunteers inside and outside the university who will share their experiences about being women in STEM.

What do participants need to bring?

- Nothing! We do encourage you to bring a smart device to access the program if you have one. We will have some hard copies if participants are in need of one.
  - Please Note: Lab sessions may require students to wear long pants with no rips and closed-toed shoes. To be safe, we recommend all students dress in this attire.

What sessions do you offer?

- Our sessions vary at each conference! We offer a variety of sessions in all areas of STEM.

How do participants select sessions?

- Students will select sessions starting about a month before the conference. Coordinators/parents will get an email with instructions on how to select sessions on our database. Students will have until a week before the first conference to select their sessions. At that point, we will place students in sessions.

What does late registration entail?

- Late Registration begins October 21st for both conferences. This adds an additional $5 to each registration. Those who register under late registration will get a handwritten (rather than printed) nametag and will not be able to select the sessions they attend. Scholarships are not available for late registrants.

Do you accommodate dietary restrictions?

- Yes, we work with ISU dining to accommodate all dietary needs. Please let us know if your group has specific needs. We provide a buffet style lunch for all participants so individuals can select what will work with their dietary needs. Below are examples of what will be shown on the buffet as indicators for each food item.
